Cruse vetoes ordinance

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The mayor's unusual veto power was used Tuesday night against the city's new occupancy ordinance.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse vetoed the ordinance, passed by the aldermen at their Oct. 7 meeting, that requires inspections and a permit before a dwelling could be occupied and utilities turned on.

THOUGH IN favor of the permits, Cruse said, he felt the ordinance would make the permit system unworkable.

"If our city is to continue on the path of growth and development, then the adoption of an occupancy permit is essential," he said. "Granite City must become synonymous with quality housing, and an occupancy permit, if done correctly, can make that happen."

Mayor Von Dee Cruse

"But this ordinance has serious flaws which would quickly make it unworkable."

Cruse said a person could be unaware the city requires an occupancy permit until calling the power company for service.

"THE ALDERMEN for the most part typically make mistakes between the closing and possession dates, so the homebuyer could quickly discover that he has bought and paid for a home which he can't live in," he said. "Hitting an unsuspecting family with code repairs which they can't afford, and holding their home at ransom is not the reputation I want Granite City to have."

Next, Cruse said Illinois Power Co. records show there are 250 to 300 service starts per month. This would mean the city's inspection staff would "quickly fall behind and the city engineer's secretary would have to devote all her time to scheduling inspections and handling occupancy paperwork."

The ordinance is also not enforceable, Cruse said.

"IF THIS becomes law tonight, there will be 20 to 30 requests for inspection tomorrow," he said. "At this rate, it would not be long before our waiting list was weeks long and Granite City became known as 'The place you can't get into.'"

Fees for the inspections and permit will cost $7 per dwelling, Cruse said. With 300 units per month, this would produce $25,000 per year, he said.

"This is obviously not enough to hire additional staff," Cruse said. "In a few weeks, when we (the city) find out it's impossible to handle the additional staff, we would have to take money from the general fund to hire the necessary people. I don't think any of us want to do that."

Residents favor annexation move

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Annexation of two subdivisions into Granite City was the topic of a meeting held Thursday night in City Hall.

About 25 residents of Town and Country and Wilson Manor subdivisions, most favoring annexation, attended the meeting. Also present were Mayor Von Dee Cruse, Director of Economic Development Alan Orthals, Township Auditor Darlene Luth and Nameoki Precinct Committeeman Cookie Zeeff.

"WE'RE proud of the services we provide in Granite City and we want to share them with you," he said. Von Dee Cruse FUTURE ECONOMIC growth of the area, Cruse said, was one reason for annexation. He said 10,000 jobs in the city had been lost in the past 15 years.

"Granite City is interested in the area as a whole," he said, "so people will stay here."

"With its ability to issue industrial revenue bonds," Cruse said, "the city has capabilities for development not available in Nameoki Township or Pontoon Beach."

CRUSE EMPHASIZED that residents would receive benefits provided state, state fire and police protection, ambulance and street maintenance, trash collection and a full-time government.

The increase in property taxes for these services would cost "less than a pack of cigarettes a day," he said.

Army wants fence built

GRANITE CITY — The Tri-City Builders has awarded a $78,118 contract to Granite City Fence Company. The action came at Monday's Port Board meeting.

The fence company will build a fence around riverfront land the district is to acquire from the

"We're proud of the services we provide in Granite City and we want to share them with you," he said.

Since the township annexed Granite City Steel's blast furnace property in July, Cruse said, Nameoki Township's assessed valuation of the property has dropped 20 percent.

Though Cruse said he has not heard how Nameoki is going to handle the loss, an increase in real estate taxes or a reduction in township services could result, he said.

SEVERAL RESIDENTS asked about the new co-terminous annexation law signed by Gov. James Thompson. Nameoki residents concern that, if annexed by the city, they would be paying taxes to both Granite City and Nameoki Township.

Ortblas said the annexed areas could either remain in Nameoki Township or be annexed into Granite City. If annexed into Granite City Township, Nameoki would receive the lost revenue for 10 years.

In either case, Ortblas said, residents would remain in Nameoki.

RESIDENTS ALSO voiced concern about costly repairs of the Nameoki area (Granite City) sanitary sewer system. A recent report issued by Horner & Shafrazi Inc. of St. Louis showed repairs cost $1.5 million to $2 million.

Ortblas said several things are being done, including the hiring of a public works director and present grouting of sewers, to help eliminate the problem. He added a bond issue would probably be necessary to raise funds for the repairs.

Damage heavy in restaurant fire

GRANITE CITY — A fire did an estimated $225,000 damage Saturday morning to Hardee's Restaurant, 2642 Madison Ave.

The blaze was confined to the attic of the building. Granite City fire chief said it had spread through part of the roof. Cause of the fire is believed to have been overloaded electrical wires.

TWO FIREFIGHTERS were slightly injured when they slipped on the wet floor while trying to extinguish the blaze.

Firemen received the alarm at 9:19 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 18, and were at the scene approximately four hours, reports said.

Carl Emerling, marketing manager for Hardee's, said the company hopes the restaurant will be repaired in about a week.

"WE'RE GOING to try to make it in a week," he said. "We can't afford to let that one (restaurant) close down." The fast-food restaurant has been attracting a large number of customers.

Emerling said this is the first major fire for the Granite City Hardee's, which was recently remodeled.

"We've seen minor things but nothing like that," he said.

Venice fines rise, bridge traffic down

By Valerie Evenend
Staff writer

VENICE — The city coffers were bolstered by $4,463 in fines collected through the Circuit Court in September and returned to Venice this month.

In a report to the City Council Oct. 12, Police Chief Farrah Smith said 200 arrests were made last month on a total of 295 charges. Six juveniles were arrested on 12 charges, he said.

THE MONETARY RETURN to the city was the second highest amount collected in the past 18 months. $50,500 was collected in December 1985.

Arrests included 186 persons on citizen traffic violations, 54 on state traffic violations and 33 for violating state statutes.

Four people were arrested for other police departments and five were picked up on warrants, Smith said.

TRAFFIC CROSSING THE city-owned McKinley Bridge decreased slightly last month with 490,585 vehicles using the span in September.

The total represents a daily average of 16,916, which still shows an average increase of 924 vehicles per day compared to September 1985, Bridge Manager Tom Fields reported.

Completion of repairs on the Poplar Street Bridge, which caused lengthy backups and forced many drivers to take alternate routes, may have accounted for the slight decrease from the August figures.

CITY TREASURER J. Alan Gardner said the city appears to be in compliance with a statute requiring $100,000 worth of insurance for each active and retired police officer listed in the police pension fund.

Police officers' active and retired pension plan, which has a total of $671,000 in four financial institutions, the city treasurer said.

A recent "prudent man" analysis showed the funds were protected, Gardner advised the council.

Reviews and previews

Veto reaction expected

Reaction is expected this week from Mayor Von Dee Cruse's plan to veto a housing ordinance that would have required occupancy permits. The Granite City Council passed the ordinance 10-2 on Oct. 7. Council members next face the decision of whether to override Cruse's stand. An override requires a two-thirds majority.

The only Negro in Congress, Rep. Arthur Mitchell, lauded the New Deal.

Q: Do you think U.S. Rep. Mel Price, D-Belleville, should debate his Republican opponent Bob Gaffner?

Sgt. Yarbrough

"I do not think that Mel Price should have to have a conference with anybody because his record speaks for him. He's been there for years. And, after years of service, Mel Price has looked after us retirees and also all of the servicemen."

—Granic City

Mary Stratton

"No. I do not think Congressman Price should debate Bob Gaffner because I think Congressman Price's record speaks for itself and, therefore, he does not have to get into a debate over issues he is working on."

Could registration loophole lead to fraud?

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A voter registration problem was discovered last week when a Granite City resident received her registration card with her new address and a card for her father, who died earlier this year.

The deceased man had never changed his address. The day he died, he requested that the post office forward his mail to her home until the estate was settled and his house was sold.

A STAFF MEMBER of the registration department in the office of Evelyn Bowles, Madison County clerk, said the state had requested that voter records be updated.

To comply with the request, the county office obtained changes of addresses from the post office. She said the clerk's staff believed it would be doing the citizens a service if it automatically sent new voter cards to the new addresses.

This procedural change, to amend the address and precinct when a person moves, began this year when the state encouraged updating of all voter registration records, the Press-Record/Journal was told.

TO KEEP the registration records accurate should be a first priority of the county office, but it should not be done in a way that creates voter registration authorities say.

This particular loophole could allow another person to use the deceased person's card, it was explained.

In issuing a new card, the clerk's staff also updates its book entries that list the voter's precincting place for use on an election day.

Clerks in the new precinct might not be familiar enough with the deceased person from another neighborhood to be certain whether someone else's name had been used.

LACKING any reason to doubt the accuracy of a newly-issued official voting card and poll book entry, the poll judges might fail to challenge a fraudulent voter.

One commented, "A person could vote twice under these circumstances for himself and once for the deceased person, and who would know the difference?"

No one requested a new voter card for the deceased man, it was verified.

Members of his family were told last week they should have notified the county clerk's office of the death. However, this advice was given only when the point was raised.

MANY PEOPLE do not know that if they have a death in the family they should contact the county clerk, authorities say, asserting that "this automatic service" of presenting new cards opens the door for illegal use of a voter card.

Under the past policy, each voter was responsible for having his address changed by signing the back of the card and sending it to the county clerk for a new card with the correct address.

Does a change of address at a post office provide sufficient information for issuance of a new voter registration card? That is a question the clerk's staff is now pondering.

Board mute on bond issue

By Norma Mendoza

CHOUTEAU — The Township Board declined to take a position on the referendum for a bond issue to build a new Madison County Shelter Care and Nursing Home.

Supervisor Morris Miles read the trustees a letter from the County Board asking for a public meeting to discuss the impact of the bond issue on the taxpayers and to present the preliminary design plan.

The meeting was to be held Wednesday night.

Miles asked the board if it wished to take a position in opposition against the referendum. He said Godfrey Township had voted to oppose the bond issue.

Miles, who is a member of the County Board and serves on its Health Institutions Committee, said he supports the idea of the bond issue. The committee asked for more information about the proposal and how it would affect the township's they want a nursing home or not.

"The nursing home we have now has the best care available anywhere in the county," Miles said. "But the facility itself is old and the money we have is limited, so well, we just can't afford it any more."

"If the referendum is voted down, then I don't think there will be a county nursing home," he said.

However, he said there are some people who think the county should get out of the nursing home business.

"I don't know what you think," Bob Lekrone said. "Let's let the voters decide the issue on Nov. 4."

The board agreed to take no action on the subject.

Miles presented a bid from Central Burglar Alarm to upgrade the fire alarm system in the Township Hall, attending the annual conference of the Township Officials of Illinois.

The next regular meeting will be at 7 p.m., Oct. 27.

fire insurance group being

The matter was postponed pending further investigation.

Miles said the township hired a new part-time employee. He said the employee was denied a hearing last week to a former part-time employee who had voluntarily resigned to return to school.

Miles reminded the board of the commodities distribution to needy township residents today at the Township Hall.

The board approved the payment of employees' wages and township bills.

The first meeting in November was rescheduled to 7 p.m., Nov. 6. Township officials will be in Springfield attending the annual conference of the Township Officials of Illinois.

The next regular meeting will be at 7 p.m., Oct. 27.

Township opposes moving judge

By Norma Mendoza

NAMEOKO — A resolution protesting a proposal to move the U.S. District judge, his office and staff from Alton to East St. Louis was unusually adopted by the Township Board.

The resolution states that "the people of the Nameoki Township desire to have the U.S. District judge and related personnel of the U.S. judge remain in Madison County."

It further states land used as a site for the federal courthouse in Alton was donated to the General Services Administration by certain citizens of Madison County. It is the expectation that it would remain the active seat for the U.S. district judge.

Claiming removal will lead to economic injury for the city of Alton and Madison County, the resolution states the township's "disapproval of any concerted effort to remove a U.S. judge from Alton federal building to East St. Louis."

The resolution will be sent to U.S. Sens. Alan Dixon and Paul Simon, and U.S. Rep. Melvin Price.

The board approved the appointment of $450 per person to send the four trustees, the supervisor, clerk, assessor, highway commissioner and township attorney to the annual conference of the Township Officials of Illinois.

The conference will be held in Springfield Nov. 9 through Nov. 12.

Appropriations in the amount of $2,225.82 were transferred from the administrative salaries account to the health program account for the new deep well in Dobrey Slough. Such transfers are authorized by Illinois law.

TRUSS HALL reported that three new pumps have been installed and the well should be operating soon. Hall said monitoring at several homes in the area showed no rise in the water table, in spite of the unusually wet fall.

There is some speculation that the wells drilled for the Interstate 255 construction may be having a beneficial effect on the water table.

Steve Isenborg told the board there were no reports of high water during the recent rains.

He said holding ponds and the pumps and everything worked real well, he said.

Supervisor Harry Briggs said the township received notification that three property owners are requesting annexation to the city of Granite City. Two reside in the township addition and one has a lot on Pine Street.

Briggs said there is also a petition for the annexation of a tract of approximately 35 acres which would connect the city of Granite City to the rest of Illinois.

Briggs said the township has no plans to contest requests for annexation by individual property owners.

"We're satisfied they know all the details about annexation now," he said.

He said the township officials will reserve judgement about the tract on Illinois 3 until they can examine a map of the area.

"If it's going to be for an industry which will benefit the area and give Nameoki people a chance for jobs, we won't contest it," Briggs said.

Briggs recognized Norman Jones of 2352 Miracle Ave., who has a complaint about automobile traffic on his street.

"Something's going to have to be done about that curve down there in front of my house," Jones said.

Jones said two cars recently went because of his front yard.

"And I don't know how many have been off that concrete wall," he said.

However, he said the last car to hit the wall left a big hole and demolished several of the concrete blocks.

"It must have done a lot of damage to the car," Jones said.

Members of the board asked if a guard rail could help to solve the problem.

Jones said he was willing to find out.

"What I'm afraid of is that one of the kids that play out there will get run over one of these days," he said.

Jones' house is situated on the curve on Miracle Avenue just before it runs into Orville. Drivers failing to negotiate the front yard turn would run into the front yard.

Commissioner Lee Adams said the department would be able to install the guard rail within the month.

Adams said the department completed the chaining and sealing of Palm, Red Bud and St. Bernard Avenues and will start on Bend Road Friday morning.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Oct. 27.

People with free time needed

Dedicated persons interested in helping reduce the problems of battered women are being sought by the Phoenix Center.

"We need quality volunteers," said Phoenix President Barbara Young. "We need people with time to help."

"Transportation is an important service needed by battered women," Young said. "Volunteers who can be on call to take women from point to point are one of the center's biggest needs," she said.

"Hollie women can aid battered women by suggesting options available to them for dealing with their situations, and Phoenix will provide the training essential to the task," she said.

"It's much of a 'front line' approach to helping battered women those willing to assist Phoenix clients with less stressful tasks would be of great value to the people we serve. Persons who can be occasional workers, clerical workers and professional counselors are critical to the growth of the non profit center," she said.

"Skilled fund-raisers can help as the Phoenix Crisis Center continues to grow."

"We put every penny into making sure women have a safe place they can go when they need to get out of an abusive situation," said Phoenix Treasurer Rita Blum. "The Center's purpose is to provide temporary emergency shelter for battered women and their children, said on-site coordinator Carol Chiappa.

"We provide a full range of services including shelter, seeking orders of protection and counseling," she said. "We need help to continue to maintain our high degree of service and to increase that service in the near future."

Young said those who desire to volunteer, or who want to assist with a donation, should call Chiappa at 451-1008.

All woman board makes two in area

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — The area's second all-woman library board was created Tuesday night with the appointment of four new members.

Named by Mayor Tyrone Echols to the Venice Public Library Board were:

DOROTHY GRIGGS, Anna Claggett, Metro Marcelline Pierson and Vanetta Adams.

Also governed by an all-feminine board is the Madison Public Library.

The Venice appointments were approved by the City Council.

The four newcomers will replace Barbara Madison, Ola Jones, Verna McClellan and Tom Maher on the board.

CURRENT OFFICERS and members are: Judy Reidelberger, president; Frankie Griggs, vice president; and Loren Morris and Margaret Lee.

None of those members being replaced indicated they wished to continue to serve on the board, Echols said.

Difficult in getting a quorum in order to conduct library business was cited for revising the board's membership, the mayor added.

All of the new appointees are active in community programs.

ANNA CLAGGETT, a medical technician and a student at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, also serves as a member of the Venice Board of Park Commissioners and is a volunteer literacy tutor. Vanetta Adams is secretary to Echols and a clerical worker at City Hall.

Metro Marcelline Pierson, staff secretary and newsletter editor in the Employee Relations Department at A.O. Smith Corp., is co-founder of the Venice Neighborhood Watch Program; and Metro Marcelline Pierson, a retired medical assistant, is a counselor and interim project director for the Madison County Urban League.

A meeting date when the new members will be seated has not yet been set, Frankie Griggs said. The library board usually meets on the third Wednesday of each month.

Chapter HT opens season

Summer experiences were shared at the opening Chapter HT meeting, with president Betty Robertson presiding.

Cottey College chairman Georgia Surley reported that donations to the scholarship fund increased 60 percent during the last year. Marie Robertson noted applications for grants are available for women in need.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Thelma Baker with a visit from state organizer Ann Lawrence.

Others in attendance were Marge Pennell, Marie Gordon, Judy Dailey, Faith Holshouser, Betty Mathias, Pat Konzen, Mary Miller, Jan Kohl, Loretta Reiske, Jo Anne Gaumer, Pat Merz and Dorothy Kerch, hostess.

BAC meeting delayed; no quorum

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Lack of a quorum at their regular meeting last Wednesday kept the Belleville Area College trustees from acting on many agenda items.

Board members Robert Dintelman, Curt Eckert, Frances Braswell and Wayne Reynolds failed to attend the meeting. Members Leo Konzen, Larry Reinneck and Elizabeth Jenner attended.

THE BOARD, who intended to agree to schedule a special meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will take up all scheduled agenda items except for discussions on administrative contracts and an unspecified scheduled executive session.

Jenner requested the items be held until November's regular meeting because she said she will not be attending the Oct. 22 meeting and wanted to attend when the items are considered.

Jenner said she had planned a trip to Europe at that time and had already delayed the trip in order to attend on Oct. 15. She said she did not want to delay it again.

The board will consider a full-time recruit for the Granite City Campus. Also on the consideration is the hiring of a secretary to the GCC dean of students. Both appointments are expected to pass.

THE RECRUITER would mainly recruit students from the Quad-City Area.

The board will also discuss the BAC district's liability for payment of legal fees accrued from Chancellor Bruce Wissore's contempt of court citation and his subsequent resignation.

The legal action stemmed from differences between Wissore and some board members over use of BAC office facilities during a tax increase election campaign. The tax proposal submitted to the district's voters was defeated.

Slavic gifts to SIUE library

Slavic and Eastern European Friends of SIUE plan their 1986 "coffee break" on Sunday, Oct. 26, at 2 p.m. in Lovjoy Library. It will feature the presentation of five language learning tapes to SIUE.

Tapes with Bulgarian, Hungarian, Polish and Serbo-Croatian languages will be added to those owned by the university.

Language learning tapes are used in modern education to enable a student to learn the basics of a language.

"They have been very successful," said Mrs. Stanley Stimaic, president of the Slavic Friends. She will be joined by Dr. Geno Denus, director of Lovejoy Library.

The program will also include the Czech Singers of St. Louis and the Happy Strings Junior Tamburitzans of Madison.

Dragan Lazarovic, a noted accordionist who recently arrived from Romania, will stroll among the group, playing Serbian songs during the social hour.

Lovejoy Library has one of the largest collections of such material in this area and is used by scholars.

The public is welcome to attend this event. There is ample free parking in the rear of the library. There is no admission charge.

Information is being coordinated by the SIUE Foundation, Edwardsville, 26026, telephone 692-2345, David Cassens, 656-2348, and Marvin Moehle, 452-0255.

Fines replaced as U.S. attorney

SPRINGFIELD — Sangamon County State's Attorney William Roberts was unanimously confirmed by the U.S. Senate Oct. 8 to replace Gerald Fines as U.S. attorney for the Central District of Illinois.

Fines handled many Granite City area cases when Madison County was his district.

Roberts said he expects to make the transition to the new office next month. The Central District includes such counties as Jersey, Greene, Macoupin and Sangamon.

Roberts' appointment and confirmation to the federal prosecutor's post was voted for by the Senate after he was first recommended last October by U.S. Rep. Robert Michel, R-Peoria, who now recommends persons to the president for federal prosecutors and judges in Illinois. There is no Republican U.S. senator from Illinois.

Michel also said strong support for Fines within the U.S. Justice Department and among some federal judges held up the Roberts nomination.

Michel said Fines, a federal prosecutor in Illinois for more than nine years, has done a good job but "both the office and the individual are better served by periodic change."

Roberts, from Springfield, is in his second term as Sangamon County prosecutor. He was strongly backed by several Republican leaders for the federal post.

Fines was first court-appointed in March 1977 to be U.S. attorney in the Southern District when it included Madison and Calhoun counties, and was promoted to the post by President Jimmy Carter in November 1977.

He was appointed by President Ronald Reagan to continue in the reorganized Central District in 1981.

Robert L. Snyder, 33, of 2714 W. 5th St., was arrested Oct. 16 for battery. He allegedly hit René Cordon in the face with his fist near 2200 Monroe St. Cordon suffered a bruise on his nose. Snyder was released after posting $52 cash bail.

BURGLAR LOOTS RESIDENCE

Mary Martin, 2569 Madison Ave., said Oct. 16 a burglar entered her home twice during the night, took a doll, a telephone, a suitcase and 17 videotapes. Value of the missing items is $870.

OFFICERS SERVE WARRANT

Stacy A. Filter, 22, of 2212 Grand Ave., was served a warrant by Granite City police Oct. 16 alleging he failed to appear at a hearing on a charge of disorderly conduct.

FIVE CHARGES ARE FILED AGAINST MOTORIST IN GC

Gary D. Taylor, 26, of 2920 W. 20th St., was charged Oct. 16 with speeding, illegal transportation of alcohol, driving without a valid driving license, aggravated assault and aearun identification card.

Officers clocked Taylor driving 52 mph in a 35 mph zone; they also allege finding an open can of beer in his auto.

At police headquarters, Taylor allegedly threatened to hit an officer; police reported finding eight .22 caliber bullets in his pants pocket. Taylor was released after posting $256 cash bail.

CANNABIS CHARGES FILED

Berry T. Gibson, 32, of 2020 Madison Ave. and Robert L. Tidwell, 20, of 2220 Madison, were charged Oct. 15 with unlawful possession of cannabis. Officers alleged finding a plastic bag of cannabis in Tidwell's pants and a bag of cannabis in Gibson's boot. Each was released on $102 cash bail.

Blair school polls relocated at church

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Voters in Venice Township Precincts 4 and 11 will cast ballots Tuesday, Nov. 4, at Friendship Baptist Church, 301 Mercadoux Ave., Venice.

The same voters previously voted at Blair School, where parents of grade school students had objected to the building being used as a voting place after the March 18 primary. Blair is in North Venice and a part of the Madison school district.

BILLIE BOSWORTH, president of the Madison School Board, said Friday that Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles had authorized relocating the polling booths at Friendship Baptist Church from Blair School.

"Every voter in both precincts will get a ballot and a place to drop it off," Miss Bowles said Friday.

Official notification also will be contained in the list of area polling places published in the Granite City Press-Record/Journal, plus an advertisement in the newspaper, the county clerk said.

The POLLING PLACE issue was raised by Venice 4th Ward Alderman

Victor Valentine Sr. at Tuesday's City Council meeting. He said residents of his ward are disturbed about the situation.

"I think it is a very disgusting thing that have a polling place in the school," he said. "They apparently do not mind all that traffic coming into the building with children around."

Valentine said.

The president of the Madison School Board called me last week and said arrangements are being made to move the polls to Friendship Baptist Church," Mayor Tyrone Echols replied.

"I UNDERSTAND from Billie Bosworth the trustees of the church and I agreed to this," the mayor added.

Parents of Blair pupils were joined by principals and teachers who also objected to the use of the school during the primary election.

Officials were concerned about the building distract students and cause potential safety problems, parents and teachers said.

Traffic tie-ups also occurred in previous elections when voter parking and parents attempting to deliver or pick up students conflicted, it was noted.

The 30-day temporary permit, provided for in the ordinance, would not be adequate for rehabilitation of these homes, he said.

He said the ordinance would take effect immediately. Cruse said, the city and public are not prepared for its effects:

"Over the months that this ordinance has been discussed, some of our people have commented on it, 'Don't let us have to sell our homes,'" he said.

"There are people expecting to move into these homes beginning tomorrow."

"To require an occupancy permit, no matter how fair or how well administered, would create absolute chaos for the homebuyers, the banks, the power company, the Realtors and ourselves."

Cruse said he would support an ordinance which would:

• Make the homeowner aware of the permit requirement at the time of the contract.

• Encourage enough money to hire professional staff required to operate efficiently.

• Provide enough time to upgrade a badly deteriorated home.

• Be passed by Dec. 1, with an effective date of Jan. 1, 1987. This would give adequate warning to people in the home market and enough time for the city to organize the inspection program and hire enough qualified personnel, he said.

Gebhardt contender for teacher of year

SPRINGFIELD — Statewide plaques will go to three in the Granite City school district, Agnes Fryntko, retired Parrottsville Grade School principal; Harold G. Schubert, classroom teacher, and Jean Marie Gonzales, a student. State honorable mention will be accorded to Althea Carrie Cross, a Venice classroom teacher.

The Illinois State Board of Education has honored individuals who have made outstanding contributions to Illinois' public and nonpublic K-12 education system at the board's "Those Who Excel" awards banquet on Oct. 31.

The awards dinner will be held at the Holiday Inn East, 3100 S. Dirksen Parkway, Springfield.

Individuals will receive recognition in one of six categories: classroom teacher, school administrator, school board member, student (grades 7-12), school service personnel, and community member or parent.

Of the 127 nominees, 38 finalists will receive plaques for outstanding achievement, 50 semifinalists will receive certificates of excellence, and 39 nominees will receive letters of honorary mention. These awards will be presented by State Superintendent of Education Ted Sanders.

The 1985-87 Illinois teacher of the year, selected from among the seven current teachers who are receiving plaques, including Gebhardt, will be announced and honored at the banquet.

This person will be entered in the national Teacher of the Year Program, sponsored by Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corp., Good Housekeeping, and the Council of Classroom Teachers.

The national each of the year will be named in the spring.

Randy Steinheimer of Aurora, a fourth grade teacher, is the current Illinois teacher of the year.

The award winners were selected using the following criteria:

• Could the nominee be considered a positive change agent in the school and/or community?

• Has the nominee beneficially affected any one or more of the following:

curriculum, staff morale, community support, student interest, or the learning environment?

• Has the nominee provided creative leadership in inspiring or motivating others to achieve or contribute to the school environment?

• Has the nominee personally provided a special service or achieved above and beyond what is expected in the usual school program?

• Has others recognized the nominee as a role for constructive change, e.g., a model for achieving educational excellence in Illinois?

• Does the nominee demonstrate and maintain educational excellence in our schools is not an easy task.

"Nominees recognized in this awards program have shown that a joint effort between schools and communities assures top quality educational programs and services."

"The 'Those Who Excel' program allows the State Board of Education to honor and recognize leading individuals who provide excellence in education for our young people."

The selections were made by a committee whose members represented 17 statewide educational organizations.

Steel resource center planned

The nation's top steel industry trade association has signed a $2.1 million agreement to establish a steel resource center at the Evanston/Northwestern University Research Park.

Gov. James R. Thompson said, "The American Iron and Steel Institute's (AISI) three-year commitment to invest $700,000 annually in the steel resource center underscores Illinois' thriving research and development."

"This is another example of how many of Illinois' outstanding academic institutions are increasing their interaction with industry to focus research on solving specific problems in various industrial fields," he said.

AISI members account for 80 percent of the raw steel produced in the United States.

The center will use an interdisciplinary approach to research needs in manufacturing processes intended to help improve the industry's economic position.

Extensive use will be made of Northwestern's Technological Institute, which houses its engineering and physical science programs. It is the largest such university research structure in the nation.

The center also will draw on the resources of the university's J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management, considered one of the country's leading management schools.

"Northern Illinois' expertise in these areas and its proximity to major steel consumers in the Midwest make it an excellent choice to seek solutions to problems facing the industry," said Thomas C. Graham, chairman of AISI's department of the U.S. Division of USX Corp.

"We applaud the American Iron and Steel Institute's selection of Northern Illinois," said Department of Commerce and Community Affairs Director Jay A. Hedges. "We expect that the outcome of the project will have a significant positive impact not only on the steel industry, but the general economy as well."

Hedges said the steel resource center will have an eight-member advisory committee, including three Northwestern representatives and three from the Washington D.C.-based AISI.

The committee will review policies and programs of the center and conduct a survey of collaboration with industrial efforts. The committee is to be appointed by University President Arnold R. Weber.

SIUE has helped create economic turnaround, Lazerson believes

Southern Illinois University has helped create a "dramatic turnaround" in economic development in Southern Illinois, Edwardsville campus president Earl Lazerson said Oct. 9.

"There are new plants coming into the region. You see expansion of existing facilities," Lazerson said at an SIUE Board of Trustees meeting at the university.

"Southwestern Illinois is on the move and I feel the university has played an appropriate partnership role," he said.

Lazerson made an address on economic development to the Small Business Council of Southwestern Illinois, which has offices at SIUE. Last month, Albert Soniat, president of the Carbondale campus, made a similar address to the trustees.

Lazerson said the university has been instrumental in supporting economic development with facilities such as the Center for Advanced Manufacturing and Production (CAMP) and the Small Business Development Center.

CAMP, established in 1985, works with business in research and development of production technologies. It helps small businesses and entrepreneurs market their products.

The Granite School and the Schools of Business, Engineering and Sciences work with CAMP.

The Small Business Development Center in the School of Business provides information to small businesses on management, technology and production improvement.

Lazerson also praised the university's role in the creation of the Local Economic Council of Southwestern Illinois, which has offices at SIUE.

The council is a not-for-profit economic development organization with members in labor, business, industry, government and education.

The council has sponsored economic development seminars, supported tourism efforts and helped coordinate economic development plans.

Lazerson said universities have a duty to strengthen economic development and improve the quality of life in the community. Universities can help coordinate efforts among a variety of agencies, organizations and individuals, he said.

He said evidence of economic development in the region includes the upgrading of facilities at Jefferson Smurfit Corp. in Alton and at Granite City Steel.

In other business, the board approved additional budget requests for fiscal 1988 totaling $1.2 million.

SIUE is requesting about $600,000 in grants for the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses. The requests will be forwarded to the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

SIUE would use the funds to improve facilities for foreign language instruction, biology, statistics and business. SIUE will use the money for instruction in sciences and for encouraging minority enrollment.

The original fiscal 1988 budget proposal was approved by the trustees in September.

The board named the soccer field at SIUE "Bob Guelker Field" in honor of Robert Guelker, who started the SIUE soccer program in 1967.

Guelker died with his wife until his death Feb. 2. He led SIUE to two national titles in 1972 and 1979. He was also a professor in the Department of Health, Recreation and Physical Education in the School of Education.

Fall enrollment at SIUE is the highest it has been since 1978, Lazerson said. He told the trustees enrollment for the fall quarter is 10,505, a 2.6 percent increase over last fall's 10,236.

The Schools of Engineering and Education showed the biggest increases.

FALL CAR CARE '86

Car maintenance can conquer cold

Winter weather cannot stop Americans! They still must travel. They still must drive their cars and trucks to work, to store and to school. Their vehicles use their vehicles to get around, visit friends and family, and deliver messages.

No — winter cannot stop Americans, but it can stop the cars and trucks used by Americans.

According to American Automobile Association (AAA) experience, more than 17 million motorists seek emergency road service every year.

It might please us if we could take a plane ride to a warm, dry region and wait until winter is over. It might be convenient to hire taxicabs or ride mass transit, while we leave our cars parked in the car in the garage and not think about it until spring.

But, unfortunately, most Americans cannot afford to find practical value in those suggestions.

Of the millions of cars that need emergency road service, AAA reports that the majority are unable to start at all.

Cold starts.

Engine malfunctions seem to be predominant in colder, wetter winter weather. Often, according to Car Care Council, the problems can be traced to damage to the cooling system or to the wiring or spark plugs. Because electricity takes the route of least resistance, it is prone to follow a circuitous path, such as through a disconnected cap or rotor, along deteriorated spark plug wiring, or along the outer surface of the spark plug itself. Dampness, dirt or grease accelerates this.

Preventive measures are rather basic, according to the Council. Be sure the ignition components and spark plugs are up-to-specification and that the oil is clean enough to ensure dependability.

Automotive industry statistics, year after year, show that about 20 to 25 percent of all vehicles experience starting trouble during the winter months and over half of these cars and trucks have repeated experiences.

Preventive maintenance is the answer, says CCC. Car Club statistics show that 85% of cars properly maintained. For example, in the state of Washington, the Approved Auto Repair Program operated by the AAA reported on the results of 16,000 different car checks on cars. Nearly one-third of the cars, the report indicated, had frayed, cracked or worn battery cables or fuses. Nearly one-out-of-three cars had defective or slipping alternator belts and 17 percent had faulty spark plugs.

Electronic tests
The electronic diagnostic equipment carried by the vans to evaluate an engine's efficiency showed that 21 percent were incorrectly timed, while 27 percent were overly rich, which also results in wasted gas and unnecessary emissions.

The Auto Club of Missouri said that, among 1,650 vehicles in one inspection program, 80 percent were not operating correctly and adding to the cost of fuel.

A recent study revealed that 89 percent had ignition system problems, requiring such things as new spark plugs, plug wires, distributor adjustment, or replacement of the vehicle's bad or corroded battery cables, and 30 percent had loose belts.

In most cases, the Council concluded, a tune-up will correct such problems.

A Car Care Council national survey asked the question, "Right now, does your car need a tune-up?" Twenty-five percent said yes, and another 14 percent said it might need a tune-up.

With the average car now 7.5 years old, compared to just 5.7 years a decade ago, and with decreasing attention being paid to preventive maintenance, it becomes clear that "Murphy's Law" will prevail," CCC President Arthur Nellen said.

"Sooner or later many of these car owners, if they don't properly maintain their car, will lose the key and hear the starter grind, but the engine won't start."

Cold weather also significantly reduces the output of the battery. At 32 degrees, the battery has 15 percent less starting power than it does at 80 degrees. And at zero degrees, the discharge rate doubles, thus reducing the engine's ability to crank the engine. For this reason, the battery should be in peak condition before winter challenges faced.

CCC recommendations

In addition to a tune-up and check of the battery, Mr. Nellen recommends:

- Keep the car out of the force of the weather. Any garage, even one that is unheated, adds heat, provides substantial protection. If left outside, face the car away from the wind, or let bushes or a building shield the engine from the impact of the wind.

2. Use lighter weight oil so the engine turns over easier.

3. Clean the tips of the spark plugs; make sure the gap is adjusted properly and that there are sharp edges on the electrodes. Ignition wires, rotor cap and cap shield, spark plug tube, and across plug gap.

4. Keep the gasoline tank near full to eliminate the possibility of condensation in the tank.

5. Check the choke mechanism to be sure it is working and make sure the car-hooter is correctly adjusted.

6. Be sure the cooling system has the proper solution of antifreeze.

7. Inspect all hoses. Especially with the modern engines, operating performance and starting ability may be seriously hampered by a broken, cracked or disconnected hose.

8. Check the alternator belt to ensure proper tension, as neglect in this area can contribute to weakening of batteries.

9. Check the filter, oil and operating effectiveness. A plugged air or gasoline filter may prevent starting.

10. Turn off all accessories before trying to start, to avoid draining power.

"The best insurance that you car will start on a cold morning is to have given it some preventive care," Mr. Nellen said.

Vehicle maintenance needed

"They can repair our satellites in outer space but they still can't give us trouble-free cars!" mumbled a frustrated motorist to the Auto Club's emergency road service, who responded to his call. "I thought this thing wasn't supposed to need service for years."

The ensuing conversation disclosed that the car was in need of more attention beyond an oil change. The engine would not start because it needed attention. It was over due for a basic tune-up. Worse yet, the car could not start because the choke plug was corrosion, both in the distributor cap and on the battery terminals; had silenced the car on this bitter cold morning.

This is by no means an isolated case, the Car Care Council says. The main reason people need emergency road service is because their cars won't start. Maintenance generally is responsible for the inconvenience and expense experienced by tens of thousands of motorists every winter.

Even high-tech fuel and ignition systems need periodic care, ranging from replacement of filters to installation of new ignition wiring. Now, more than ever, use of state-of-the-art testing equipment by trained and accredited technicians is essential to locate potential trouble.

Worse yet, the car's safety net with electronic components and older one with conventional ignition and carburetor systems, the engine still needs two basic ingredients to run: proper fuel and mixture delivered to the combustion chambers where it must be ignited at the correct instant by a spark of adequate intensity.

Doors, locks need attention

Doors and locks on your car generally deserve as much attention, but the arrival of cold weather can cause frozen locks and hinges.

Good preventive maintenance dictates proper lubrication of locks, latches and door hardware, especially in cold weather. Lock cylinders should be lubricated routinely with graphite grease or silicone spray once every few months. Don't use oil on the cylinder because it will freeze the cylinder, causing the lock to stick. It's also prudent to use white aerosol grease or silicone spray (grease lasts longer) on hinges and door hood, trunk and hatchback door latches and on fuel-filler doors. If your car has a remote fuel-filler door release, it's especially important to lubricate the hinge, catch and any exposed cables.

When lubricating door hardware, take note of how well the car door aligns with the body. If it's out of line, loosen the door hinge and screw it back in (Postscript: This job may be required to move it for a better fit). Tighten and test by closing the door. You may have to readjust the striker several times for a precise fit.

Unfortunately, in cold weather, precautions fail and door lock cylinders freeze. Instead of trying to force the lock open, which might cause the key to break off, remove the cylinder and insert it into the cylinder. Another method is to heat your door key with a match or lighter and then insert the hot lock shank when you wear a glove to protect your hand when heating the key. Be careful not to melt the plastic sheaths around some keys.

If you must wash your car in cold weather, don't wash your car during very cold weather. If you must wash it, don't lock the driver's door, especially if you keep the car outside.

SCULPTOR, Mike Lee puts the finishing touches on the stone statue of "Old Matt," prominent character of Harold Bell Wright's famous Shepherd of the Hills story.

'Old Matt' joins friends at Inspiration Point

"Old Matt," one of the characters in Harold Bell Wright's The Shepherd of the Hills, now stands in the company of other characters from the novel at Inspiration Point, Shepherd of the Hills Homestead in Branson, Mo.

Old Matt's stone likeness was crafted by a sculptor whose ties to the homestead are almost as strong as the sculpture itself. Mike Lee said he "practically grew up at the Shepherd of the Hills," accompanying his grandfather, Homer Coffelt, to town every day. As a small boy, Lee and his grandfather operate Homer's Stables, which offered trail rides at the historic homestead until Coffelt's death in 1968. Lee also acted as the shepherd of the hills outdoor theater.

Lee, 33, a professional artist living in Tucson, Ariz., said he offered to repair and restore the existing statue at Inspiration Point. On a visit relatives this summer, he again offered to work on the statues, and Jerry Coffelt, homestead general manager, accepted the offer.

Coffelt gave Lee the opportunity to construct a statue of Old Matt, thus reviving a project begun more than 30 years ago to erect a complete set of likenesses of Wright's most memorable characters.

The "Sheepie" was placed on Inspiration Point in August 1954 after a Springfield art teacher, Roberta Stoneman Baker, was commissioned to create the 7-foot statue. She died with "Pappy" and his dog, "Aunt Mollie" also were placed on Inspiration Point about a year later.

The statue of Old Matt was completed at the end of September, after Lee repaired and refinished the existing statues.

Although his home is now in Arizona, Lee said the Shepherd of the Hills sculpting project was "almost heaven-sent." Lee, a part-time college art instructor and craftsman at a bronze-casting fine arts foundry in Tucson, returned to Branson this summer to spend some time with his family. Knowing that his visit might be lengthy, Lee wondered what he would do for work while in the Ozarks.

"There was anything I wanted to do coming back here, this is it," he said. "The Shepherd of the Hills has a lot of integrity."

Enjoy cup of tea, scones

There's a revolution brewing in America. It is afternoon tea, a piping hot trend among prestigious hotels where business is conducted over a "power tea" as often as a three-martini lunch.

The practice is filtering down to the homefront, as well, with aficionados providing a perfect milieu for furnishings and entertaining. The bonus is that it is easy and inexpensive.

Some people observe it with distinctive teapots, teapot warmers, tray, dessert spoons and fancy serving platters, as well as cups, saucers, creamers and sugar bowls. All that is really necessary is a pot for brewing tea and some scones.

Afternoon tea is attractive to Americans because it is healthier than cocktails. It is relaxing and leisurely, a curative for a country where tea is practically a national disease.

Traditionally, afternoon tea is served between 3 and 6 p.m. Something sweet and savory is the customary menu for foods served. Fresh-baked scones, scones or cookies, and bite-size finger sandwiches that are decoratively garnished make an ideal menu. All are easy to prepare ahead. Lemon curd, fresh whipped cream, jams and honey are the kinds of accompaniments necessary for the feathery, semi-sweet scones.

For properly brewed tea, always serve the tea in a teapot in loose tea or tea bags. Preheat the teapot with hot water. Let stand while fresh cold water is brought to a full rolling boil. Empty the teapot, add tea bags, then pour on

Lemon curd

6 eggs, slightly beaten
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1/2 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
(about 4 lemons)
1/2 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup freshly grated lemon peel

In top of double boiler, combine eggs, yolks, sugar, lemon juice, peels and lemon peel. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, 25 minutes or until thickened. Remove from heat. Let cool.

Store tightly covered in refrigerator. Use as filling for small tart shells or layer cake.

Makes about 4 cups lemon curd.

Peach punch

1 can (16 oz.) peach halves, drained
1/2 cup (1 qt.) raspberry sherbet, softened
2 cups boiling water
6 tea bags
1 can (46 oz.) peach nectar, chilled
1/2 cups ginger ale, chilled

In bottom of 5 1/2-cup ring mold or bowl, arrange peach halves. Spoon in sherbet. Freeze until firm.

In teapot, pour boiling water over tea bags. Cover. Brew 5 minutes.

Remove tea bags. Cool.

In punchbowl, combine tea with peach nectar. Just before serving, add ginger ale and sherbet ring. Garnish, if desired, with fresh mint.

Makes about 10 (5-ounce) servings.

Tea-time

Trim crusts from thinly sliced bread. Cut into circles, rectangles, squares or triangles.

Spread with suggested toppings. Place on damp cloth and refrigerate at least 1 hour. To serve: Dilly Shrimp Topping: Combine 1 cup finely chopped cooked shrimp, 1/4 cup dairy sour cream, 1/2 teaspoon dill weed, salt and pepper to taste. Spread on bread. Garnish with additional fresh dill.

Chicken Curry Topping: Combine 1 1/2 cups finely chopped cooked chicken, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup plain yogurt, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, salt and pepper to taste. Spread on cinnamon raisin bread and garnish with sliced almonds.

Lace cookies

1/2 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 tbsp. frozen orange juice concentrate, partially thawed and undiluted
1/2 tsp. freshly grated orange peel
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup finely chopped hazelnuts or almonds
1/2 cup mini semi-sweet chocolate chips (about 3 oz.)

In medium saucepan, bring sugar, butter, corn syrup, orange juice concentrate and orange peel to boil, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in flour and hazelnuts. Cool completely.

Stir in chocolate (chocolate should not melt completely).

On aluminum foil-lined and greased cookie sheet, drop 1 level teaspoonful of batter for each cookie, 3 inches apart. Bake 6 minutes at 375° or until done. Batter will spread and appear lacy.

On wire rack, cool 5 minutes.

Remove from pan. Cool completely.

Store in air-tight container.

Makes about 5 1/2 dozen cookies.

Spiced cup

3 cups water
6 lemon-flavored tea bags whole cloves
1 cinnamon stick, broken
1/2 tbsp. honey

In medium saucepan, bring water to boil. Add tea bags, cloves and cinnamon. Cover and brew 10 minutes.

Remove tea bags. Simmer an hour.

Remove spices. Stir in honey. Makes about 4 servings.

Vino!Autumn breeze blows up wine-tasting party

There is a world of delicious cheese and wine just waiting to be explored. A cheese-and-wine tasting party is a simple, tasty way to do it. The party is fun to plan, easy to host and requires little equipment: just one wineglass per guest - and no cooking.

First the cheese. Choose four or five cheeses, offering a variety of flavors from mild to sharp and a range of textures from creamy to firm. Try for an assortment of colors and shapes, too.

Then select an equal number of wines to complement each cheese. The milder the cheese, the more mellow the wine; the sharper the cheese choice, the more robust the wine.

For each guest, allow a total of a pound of cheese and a total of a half-bottle of wine. Thus, for 6 people have 3 pounds of cheese and 3 bottles of wine.

Leave the cheese at room temperature so guests can enjoy their true flavors. Remove full-flavored cheeses from the refrigerator an hour before serving. Milder cheeses can be taken out 30 minutes in advance.

Cut cheeses into bite-size pieces just before serving, or arrange pieces of cheese on platters. Serve.

Following are some combinations of cheese with wines and fruits for flavor contrast.

- Cream cheese with sparkling wine, rose or sweet wine. Fruit: Green grapes, pineapple, plums or strawberries.

- Edam with tokay, cold duck, claret or muscatel. Fruit: Apples, green grapes, pears or pineapple.

- Gouda with tokay, cold duck or rose. Fruit: Apples, green grapes, honeydew melon or pineapples.

- Limburger with dry red wines. Fruit: Apples, green grapes, pears or pineapple.

- Monterey Jack with rose, white wine or cream sherry. Fruit: Apples, cantaloupe, green grapes or pineapples.

- Muenster with roses, white wines or cream sherry. Fruit: Apples, green grapes, honeydew melon or pears.

- Neufchatel with sparkling wine, rose or white wine. Fruit: Green grapes, pineapple, strawberries or watermelon.

- Pecorino with dry red or white wine. Fruit: Apples, green grapes, pears or pineapple.

- Pimento cheese with dry red or white wine. Fruit: Apples, green grapes, pears or pineapple.

- Swiss with dry champagne, white wine or sparkling wine. Fruit: Apples, green grapes, pears or pineapple.

Let wine follow meals

When choosing a wine, remember that the wine should not overpower the food, just as the meal should not overwhelm the wine.

Don't judge a wine on the basis of price. Less expensive wines less than $4 are often as good or better than more costly ones. Serve hearty, full-bodied reds like zinfandel, burgundy or cabernet sauvignon with steak or red meat. Lighter red wines, such as pinot noir and pinot blanc, complement veal dishes well.

Try tortilla fiesta for two

A twist to a favorite traditional autumn combination of apple and pork is featured here in Apple Pork Wrap-Ups. This recipe features two tortillas with a tender, delicious apples and a tender pork filling in a Mexican-style main dish or appetizer that is simple to prepare and a joy to eat. It would be perfect for a two-course meal or a light dinner that could be expanded to fill as many hearty appetites as necessary.

As a main dish, serve Apple Pork Wrap-Ups with crisp tortilla chips and fresh salsa and a tossed salad with green peppers. Marinated Corn-Zucchini Salad can be made in advance with no last-minute preparation. A dessert of apples sweetened with chocolate and spiced with cinnamon would be a perfect flavor combination that would nurture any response of desire.

For simple serving, let the rolls up to the diner by serving pork and apple filling in a dish and passing a plate of flour tortillas. It would be an excellent appetizer with glasses of cold beer or icy margaritas.

To prepare Apple Pork Wrap-Ups, tender pork is cooked with apples, crunchy pecans, red hot pepper sauce, added at the end, enhances the fruit-and-meat combination.

$100 million highway link opens Thursday

Gov. James R. Thompson will be joined by other state and local officials Thursday, Oct. 23, to open new Interstate Route 255 between Interstate 64 at Caseyville and Interstate 70 at Collinsville, according to the Fairview Heights district office of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The new 5-mile section of interstate highway connecting I-64 with I-55/70 was built at a cost of nearly $100 million, including land acquisition and construction of overpasses.

This new, safer facility will complete an important link of I-255 in the greater Metro East area. The new road will allow Interstate 55 traffic to travel directly to the St. Louis metropolitan area without having to travel through the frequently-congested Poplar Street Bridge complex," a spokesman said.

"In addition to relieving traffic congestion now occurring on the Poplar Street Bridge, the highway provides another step in the completion of the much-needed north-south artery on the Metro East side of the Mississippi River.

This north-south highway will provide for the future development of the Metro East side. The new section of highway will also relieve much of the congestion now occurring on Illinois 157 and Illinois 111.

The opening ceremony will take place at noon Thursday on the new I-255 southbound ramp west of Collinsville where it crosses over existing I-55/70.

Gov. Thompson and other dignitaries will open the road at that time. The public is invited.

For the opening, guests should drive west on I-55/70 from Collinsville or east on that highway from Illinois 111 to the interchange, where they will be directed by signs and Illinois State Police to the opening site.

More funding to weatherize homes

The Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) will begin implementing legislation from Exxon Oil overcharge funding for the Illinois Home Weatherization Assistance Program (IHWP).

Madison County Community Development will get $331,343 and the St. Clair County Intergovernmental Grants Department will get $65,770.

"In July, DCCA was appropriated $2.5 million in Exxon Oil overcharge funds for weatherization to be used over a four-year period," said Gov. James Thompson. "This funding will be used to supplement the department's other funding to weatherize the homes of low-income individuals and families, so they may enjoy more comfortable homes and lower energy bills."

Weatherization helps low-income Illinois citizens control energy costs through a variety of weatherization techniques at no cost to the household. Eligible households may receive attic insulation, weatherstripping, storm windows, furnace cleaning and tuning, and other energy-related home repairs. Eligibility criteria are based on a family's combined annual income. For example, a family of four with a total yearly income of $13,752 or less will qualify for assistance. Priority for weatherization assistance is given to the elderly and handicapped.

DCCA will distribute the Exxon money to local administering agencies which will identify the eligible households and perform the weatherization work," said DCCA Director Jay R. Hedges. "This will be a great help in relieving one of the great burdens low- and fixed-income people encounter in their daily lives — high utility bills."

The first year's allocation, $15.5 million, was made available to local administering agencies effective on Oct. 15.

It is anticipated that, with the Exxon funds, over 19,000 low-income households will be weatherized throughout the state.

Regional self-insurance pool planned for cities

Ted Mikesell, executive director of the Southern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, has announced the formation of a steering committee to advise on the development and implementation of a multi-city self-insurance pool.

As part of that step, mayors and other officials from Illinois were requested to serve as a committee to review and recommendations to make the program available to eligible local governments throughout the region.

The program offers local governments an opportunity to control insurance rates, increase coverage levels and provide long-term security with regard to municipal insurance availability," Mikesell said.

The program, Advanced Risk Capitalment (ARC), allows municipalities, school districts and counties to use bonds to control spiraling insurance costs. This program, which is being developed by the state, became available to local government in Illinois as a result of signing of the Insurance Reform Bill, SB 1200.

Mikesell explained to the steering committee that the ARC program was developed by a team of experts from the Center for the Future Lawton-Byrne-Bruner Insurance and the law firm of Bryan, Cave McPhee and Roberts.

"All three firms have considerable experience in working with local governments on related issues, including bond insurance, bond counsel, tax considerations, investment management, municipal insurance and loss control," Mikesell said.

Michael Brown, representative of the Public Finance Advisory Service, Chicago, said, "The ARC is a local program to be directed by local officials, for the benefit of local government. This is an opportunity for public entities to take advantage of investment income potential to offset insurance costs."

Howard V. Stephens, vice president of Lawton-Byrne-Bruner in St. Louis, currently manages a 17-city self-insurance pool in St. Louis County. He said that "unlike Missouri, Illinois communities can now use bonding power to support self-insurance. This type of approach allows local governments in Illinois to gain broader insurance coverage and control costs."

"A major component to the cost and success of the program is local control and reduction of risk exposure. ARC is the type of alternative insurance that all local governments may find attractive," Stephens said.

The committee will meet several times during the fall to determine the framework for the self-insurance pool program. "At that time, it will be the responsibility of each city to decide if it wishes to participate," Mikesell said.

Stevenson calls Decatur industry plan misguided

"Thomas' Department of Commerce and Community Affairs was recently embarrassed when it and the DCCA jointly announced that a mini-steel mill would open in Decatur. The DCCA will be decentralized and run by qualified professionals," Stevenson pledged.

"I am appalled at the proposal. Stevenson said. "It is incomprehensible. His basic approach to economic development is the announcement of a new, subsidized plant for Illinois. The price tag is high."

"The administration's approach is mindless and overdue," Stevenson said. "There is no substitute for competence, something this administration never learned."

He cited a Sept. 19 announcement by Gov. Thompson that a "mini-mill" would open in Decatur, supposedly creating more than 1,000 jobs to that city.

Stevenson said he did not believe

"Within a week, the deal — to have backed by $900,000 in state and local funds — was announced and there was about the background of the Indiana businessman developing the project. In its haste to make pre-election headlines, the administration failed to conduct a basic study of the project. Worse than the embarrassment is the false hope raised in Decatur," Stevenson said. "It was as unconscionable as it was inevitable."

"The administration is not using tax dollars to help people win jobs. It's using them to help him keep his job. This is economic development at its lowest level and when cutting. What happened in Decatur was happened to all Illinois, in one way or another."

Stevenson said he did not believe new plants or any jobs were created. Governor Thompson, as its choice in the Nov. 4 election.

The ATAC, the political action arm of National Taxpayers United of Illinois, urged the tax change organization in statements with over 2,000 members and supporters.

James Tobin, chairman of Angry Taxpayers, said Gov. James Thompson could be called the big-plants. As the price goes up, taxes go up — and more plants leave.

"In 1978, one-quarter of its manufacturing base left in five years, and now the survivors are being required to subsidize their competitors."

"Illinois auto parts suppliers are forced to subsidize their Japanese competition. Meanwhile, auto parts suppliers in Illinois are folding up," Stevenson said.

"Subsidies at times may be necessary in today's competitive environment, but in Illinois subsidies are out of control — as is DCCA."

He described the DCCA as "a job-killing agency" and the development agency in the country. Its budget has increased ten-fold since 1978 to $700 million a year, but it has produced no real economic development.

"Mitsubishi Motors is the largest beneficiary of state subsidies. Thompson is taxing the people of Illinois to subsidize employment in Japan.

"Last Friday, Illinois' monthly unemployment rate was reported to have risen 2 percent to 10.4 percent, with 100,000 people out of work."

"I have not made Illinois' sagging economy an issue in this campaign just because I enjoy citing negative figures on how Illinois falls farther and farther behind the other states."

"But Illinois is failing, and not because it is weak. The economic fundamentals are still here. We have great universities, a major financial center, a productive work force. Illinois is the nation's transportation center. Illinois has everything going for it — except its government. And that is what this election is about," Stevenson said.

Angry Taxpayers endorsing Shultz

The Angry Taxpayers Action Committee has endorsed Gary Shultz, Libertarian candidate for governor, as its choice in the Nov. 4 election.

The ATAC, the political action arm of National Taxpayers United of Illinois, urged the tax change organization in statements with over 2,000 members and supporters.

James Tobin, chairman of Angry Taxpayers, said Gov. James Thompson could be called the biggest tax increaser in Illinois history. State spending increased from $8 billion in 1977 to $20 billion in fiscal 1987.

"Shultz is the only candidate for governor who favors meaningful tax relief," Tobin said. "Shultz has proposed to abolish the state income tax in 1987. If elected, and the state sales tax in 1988. During 1989 and 1990, he proposes to rescind or reduce the multitude of miscellaneous taxes in Illinois."

Climax for arts festival planned

By definition, a gala is a celebration. And the gala planned for the climax of the St. Louis Arts Festival is going to be true to the definition.

"Stars Over St. Louis" will showcase performers with a local connection. The concert, at 8 p.m. Oct. 21 at the American Theatre, features music, magic, comedy and dance. It is being presented by Theatre of St. Louis as a benefit for the Arts and Education Council.

The original idea was to give a gala in which a number of St. Louisans who had gone on to become famous would return to perform, said producer Richard Gaddes. "The idea realized our choices of getting some of these famous people together for one evening was one in a million."

It was decided the performance would spotlight upcoming young stars.

"It's amazing once you look for talent how much one discovers," Gaddes said. "We could almost do the concert twice over; there's so much talent."

Schmid appeared in "Stars Over St. Louis" are:

- Ginger Rogers, who danced on St. Louis vaudeville stages before starring as Fred Astaire's dance partner, will host the program.

- Katherine Dunham, dancer and choreographer who received presidential honors at Kennedy Center in 1963, will present her dance company, which is based in East St. Louis.

- Hayuro Taima grew up in St. Louis and is a graduate of the Conservatory and School for the Arts. Earlier this year, Taima won first place in a national Chopin piano competition.

- Sara Sant'Ambrogio is a young cellist who won a bronze medal at an international Tchaikovsky violin/cello competition in Moscow.

- Erie Mills, originally from Granite City, has gone onto the world's greatest opera halls, including La Scala in Milan. She began at the Muny and Opera Theatre of St. Louis.

- Henry Townsend, St. Louis blues singer who last year won Heritage Award from National Endowment for the Arts, will perform. Townsend moved to St. Louis in 1921. He began playing guitar at 15.

- Ken Turner, award-winning magician who lives in St. Louis, will appear at the concert.

- The Bibb Sisters are a country, bluegrass and gospel group from Maryland Heights. They appeared on "Good Morning America" and the "Academy of Music" network.

- The 10-member family group features 17-year-old Kimberly Dunn.

- Louise Nadeau, leading ballerina with State Ballet of Missouri, will appear at the concert.

- The Legend Singers, an ensemble of 30 singers, will perform.

- The Rhythm Brothers, De Juan David Collins and Roland DeHecht, from St. Louis, have danced since they were teenagers. They have performed in Hollywood with Ben Vereen, in Las Vegas, on national television and on a cruise ship.

- St. Louis All-Star Jazz Ensemble features some of the best jazz musicians in the area.

• Opera Theatre of St. Louis Chorus also will perform.

A full orchestra under the direction of young conductor Hal France, will accompany the performers.

Gaddes believes "Stars Over St. Louis" is a fitting conclusion to the festival.

The St. Louis Art Festival is unique in that it showcases the arts in St. Louis. It would be very nice if every year there could be a gala like this," he said.

Concert tickets are priced from $10 to $25 and are available through Opera Theatre box office, (314) 961-0644. Benefit tickets in grand, mezzanine and orchestra sections are $250 and include a pre-dinner and cocktail buffet reception at the Old Post Office following the performance. Call the Arts and Education Council, (314) 367-6330.

Health care news

Peer review groups monitor hospital care

GRANITE CITY. — The federal government has enlisted the aid of health care professionals to oversee the hospital treatment given Medicare patients.

In general, Peer Review Organizations (PRO), which are composed of health professionals, are responsible for setting each Medicare patient receives the hospital care that is medically indicated in the particular case.

The PRO also makes certain that the care is provided in the appropriate setting, hospital, outpatient or alternative, that whatever care is provided meets a generally accepted level of quality.

PROs are responsible for investigating patient complaints.

For example, a person may believe that he or she was improperly refused admission to a hospital or was made to leave the hospital too soon.

Complaints about the quality of care a patient receives may also be directed to the PRO; however, the issue should first be brought to the attention of the patient's own physician or to a representative of the hospital.

A patient who has been denied admission to a hospital and who disagrees with the decision may request a reconsideration. The request must be made in writing within 60 days of the denial.

It may be submitted directly to the PRO or through the East St. Louis Social Security office.

A hospitalized patient who is informed that he or she will be released from the hospital or begin paying for the care may also request a PRO review. The request should be made as soon as possible by either the patient or a family member after receipt of the notice.

For further information or to schedule an in-office interview or to schedule a home visit, Quad-Citians may contact the East St. Louis Social Security office, 650 Missouri Ave. The telephone number is 482-9430, or if this is a long-distance call, they may dial the operator and ask for Enterprise 1-555.

SEMC puts mental health consultant in GC schools

Students of Granite City School District 9 and their families have a new mental health resource available, thanks to a program initiated by St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Mental Health Services. A full-time mental health consultant has been placed by the medical center within the district to evaluate the mental health needs of students and their families.

Jim Gallagher, director of Mental Health Services at St. Elizabeth, said the consultant, Harriet Grazman of Elgin, will see children and adolescents from Granite City senior and junior high schools as well as elementary school children.

In addition, she will offer education workshops for teachers, counselors and parents, provide follow-up care for adolescents who have been through the SEMC Adolescent Program, and refer children and their parents to the Mental Health Services at SEMC and the Edgewood-Edwardsville chemical dependency treatment center as the need arises. Grazman has a master's degree in social work from Washington University and has taught 15 years in the University School District. The tie between the medical center and the school district is seen as a natural progression in their previously established relationship, Gallagher said.

"We have worked closely with the Granite City school district over the past several years through our adolescent program," Gallagher said.

"With 9,000 students in the district, there must be a number of mental health needs not being met. We hope she (Grazman) can identify children and adolescents who might need treatment and make referrals for the appropriate care."

The students will see Grazman mostly through referrals by school staff, although pupils are free to initiate contact with her.

Grazman has offices at Granite City High School as well as at SEMC. For more information, the phone number is 798-3604.

Medical costs go down

Illinois Department of Public Aid Director Gregory L. Coler has released a study that shows the new, non-competitive method of providing medical care for the poor saved taxpayers $84 million last year.

Coler also listed daily room rates at all Illinois hospitals that participate in the Illinois Community and Residential Care (ICARE) program, including $31 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City. The rates had been confidential prior to now to maintain the integrity of the competitive process.

Working together, state-government and the hospitals of Illinois turned health-care inflation upside down," Coler said. "We went from 11 percent inflation to 12 percent deflation in just one year."

"This proves that cooperation and competition can put the brakes on health care costs. While ICARE's hospital costs went down, prices throughout the rest of the nation were rising at twice the rate of inflation. And our costs will go down again this year."

Illinois currently pays an average daily hospital rate of $383 a day compared to the $434 a day it would have had to pay under the old system.

ICARE replaced the old system of state-mandated Medicaid rates based on hospital cost reports. Now, hospitals compete against each other for the amount of Medicaid business they want to provide.

The amount of business a hospital gets is based on a mix of prices and services provided. Public Aid signs contracts with the hospitals guaranteeing payment at a certain rate for a certain number of days of care.

The new competitive system was part of the Illinois Health Finance Reform Act of 1984, which was a result of a cooperative effort between the state legislature, the Illinois State Medical Society, the Illinois Hospital Association, health insurance companies, business and labor.

The study, by Compass Consulting Group/Pearl Marwick, was ordered by the federal Health Care Finance Administration as a condition of granting Illinois permission to vary from the traditional Medicaid system operated in other states.

The study found that the state spent $65.3 million compared to the $73.3 million it would have had to spend under the old system. The budget for the current year has decreased again to $63.2 million.

The state provides about 1.8 million days of hospital care for 1.2 percent of the population each year.

Coler said the new system has been successful in saving money.

The department signed contracts with 54 of the 95 hospitals in Chicago to guarantee that all of the needed hospital care close to home.

The quality of care is monitored by Crescent Counties Foundation for Medical Care, an independent peer review group that determines the quality and appropriateness of care in randomly selected cases.

Public Aid maintains a staff of hospital liaisons, who visit each hospital at least once every two weeks to assist ICARE patients and hospital staff in resolving any problems they might have.

Also, Public Aid and Crescent Counties operate a toll-free 24-hour hotline to answer questions from hospitals with ICARE contracts, other medical providers and public aid recipients in need of care.

The study team recently concluded that its evaluation "demonstrates without a doubt that ICARE has successfully contained hospital costs in the Chicago area."

The report added that "future evaluation of the ICARE program will play an important role in designing future health care financing alternatives."

KIM AMES displays her running style for the Granite City cross country team. She finished seventh at the SWC meet.

Close call for Hal Lanier

I'm sure I'll enjoy the current World Series, but it would have been more of a thrill for me if Hal Lanier's Houston Astros had beaten the Mets.

It was real close, and there is one thing of which I'm sure: Young Lanier will be back making a run for the whole thing one of these days. I was saddened when the Astros dropped that sixth game down to Texas.

Hal Lanier already has a claim to fame. In addition to the 11 years he played in the major leagues, which isn't an insignificant achievement in itself, he has the honor of having his birthday celebrated each year by everyone in the good ol' U.S.A.

He was born on the Fourth of July, 1942, the fifth year his dad, Max, was mainstay on the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff. Max came up to the Cardinals in 1938 and remained there through the 1941 season. He then moved to the New York Giants for two years, but finished his career throwing his left-handed slants for the old St. Louis Browns shortly before they moved to Baltimore.

He had a 108-82 record in the major leagues.

Young Lanier, born in the same in North Carolina — Denton — as his dad, made it to the majors when the Giants signed him in 1962. He became one of eight players playing in the Bay Area. He closed out his career by moving over to the New York Yankees for the 1972-73 seasons.

It was a sad day when the Astro lost out their bid for a shot at the World Series. But it was even sadder when Max Lanier decided to jump from the Cardinals to play baseball down Mexico way. He spent two years below the border, 1947-48.

Organized Baseball outlawed all the players who jumped to the Mexican League.

By Al Barnes

But in 1949, Commissioner Happy Chandler relented and changed the rules. It was fortunate to get the assignment to play in the plane as it flew over Lambert Field. As the poddy Lanier walked down the landing, one could see tears of joy in his eyes. And as his feet hit the ground, he suddenly dropped to his knees and kissed the ground. He never did get home.

Hal was just 7 years old when his dad returned. Max was strongly criticized, as were the others who jumped, by most of the fans who didn't realize the terrible conditions under which the owners controlled the players in those days. It was truly sick.

It was so bad that a star like Stan Musial was being paid just a measly $16,000 when the raiders from Mexico made their first attempts to lure away American stars. They even almost got Musial.

Of course, the pendulum has swung almost as crazily the other way. Many fans are unhappy about the ownership of the current players are getting.

Me, I'd like to see the grand old game of baseball continue to enjoy the public's close and fervent following at all levels up to the majors.

Hal, remember, there's next year.

Warriors win SWC meet behind Noel's march

By Gregg Ochoa
Executive Sports Editor
The Granite City Warriors girls' cross country team exorcised the demons from within Friday afternoon and won the Southwestern Conference meet at Gordon Moore Park.

After three consecutive second place finishes, Granite City shifted into high gear and scored an eight-point win over Belleville West for the team championship.

It was the Warriors' third straight SWC title. Granite City placed four runners in the Top 10 to secure the win.

Senior Sheila Noel took individual honors with a time of 12:59. Her win also marked the fourth consecutive year that a Granite City runner won the race.

Final team scores were: Granite City 42; West 50; East 71; Collinsville 82; and East St. Louis 101. Alton did not have enough runners for a team score.

"It was a real big win for us," said Warrior coach Dave McClain. "We're still as a team. We were concerned about West, because earlier in the year they beat us. But they have faltered the past two or three weeks."

One person who didn't falter was Noel. "She's in the best shape that she has been in a long time," McClain said. "She took off and never looked back."

Noel, in winning her second consecutive race, covered the two-mile course in 12:59. She has taken over the leadership role for the Warriors.

"You can't count her out of any meet," McClain said. "She's running well and aiming for state."

Junior Marianne Finn, who was third in 13:25; Kim Ames (7th at 13:47); Melody Witt (8th at 14:06) and Maria Moslander (22nd at 15:37). Mindy Pucker placed 27th (15:25) and Terri Selby finished 29th (15:49).

"Kim's really run well the past couple of weeks," McClain said. "She and Marianne are really pushing each other."

Noel ran a strong race and led the pack from start to finish. Her winning time in the conference meet was 18 seconds faster than her first-place time at Mascoutah on Oct. 14.

Granite City will gear up for Saturday's five-team meet at Triad.

The top five teams will advance to the regionals. Granite City is seeking its fourth straight berth in the state meet set for Nov. 3 at Peoria.

In the boys' race, the Warriors placed fourth in the team standings. East St. Louis won the team 100.

Team standings for the boys were East St. Louis 29; West 66; Alton 67; Granite City 93 and East 100.

Granite City was paced by Jake Vonk who crossed the finish line in the 10th spot. He covered the three-mile course in 17:11. Mike Patterson was 12th for the Warriors. His time was 17:24.

"Jake's really had a good year," McClain said. "He's been consistent throughout."

Varadian, like Ames, has pushed doubly hard this year, as both are members of the Warrior Marching Band. Varadian is a drum major. Other finishes were: Paul Brandt (17th, 17:37); Steve Terzioski (23rd, 17:52); Jeff Meyer (31st, 18:31); Tom Miller (33rd, 18:53) and Bill Pushie (35th, 19:19).

Earlier last week, at the Mascoutah Invitational, the Warrior girls placed second to Mt. Vernon.

Sheil won the race, as she led wire-to-wire. Her lead on the pack grew to 38 seconds at one point. She finished with a time of 13:17, good for a 37-second lead over Luci Mays of Mt. Vernon.

As a team, the Warriors had four runner finish in the top five: Noel, Finn, Ames and Witt. Mt. Vernon also had four runner in the top 10, but the Lady Rams' fifth runner finished ahead of Maria Moslander, the Warriors' No. 5 runner.

Team scores at Mt. Vernon were as follows: Mt. Vernon 33; Granite City 61; Rockford 29; O'Fallon 87; Collinsville 104; Belleville East 143; and Mascoutah 181.

NOTES: The regionals at Triad will begin at 10 a.m.... Aside from the top five teams advancing, the top seven individuals not on those teams also extend their season.
